

JAN 07 2004

ABSTRACT

A method and system to permit the creation of "parent" accounts within a school system's data transmission system which are associated with the parent's child or children who are students in the system. A parent account is capable of creation and 5 access by various levels within the hierarchy of the system and is associated with one or more schools within the community being serviced by the entity providing the servers and community generation implementation engine.

10

15

20